GIRARD TRIAL OPENS, RECESSES

Rostraver Fair Tomorrow at New Junior High

The 15th annual Rostraver Twp. Fair will open tomorrow and run through Thursday at the Junior High School in the Sweeney Plan.

Judging will take place in the million-dollar school building, while entertainment has been arranged for the nearby stadium.

As usual, there will be exhibits in three main classifications: livestock, home economics and farm produce. Blue ribbons will be awarded to winners in each division.

Fair officials will begin receiving exhibits tomorrow at 9 a. m. By 5 p. m., they hope to have all of the articles arranged and judging completed.

At 5:30 p. m., a midget league baseball game between Pricedale and Fellsburg will touch off proceedings in the stadium.

The Fair will formally open at 7 p. m.

Three special events are planned for the opening night. At 8 p. m., the Rostraver High School band will present a concert under the direction of John Pelar.

To Crown Queen

This will be followed by the crowning of a queen. Mrs. Jean Budd, president of the Band Parents, will crown the 1957 Fair Queen who will be selected from among nine pretty young ladies competing for the title.

At 9 p. m. in the Junior High gym, the Lebanon chorus will present a concert of vocal music.

The fair schedule on Wednesday will include a midget league baseball game, exhibition by the United Boys Brigade of Monessen, and a concert by a combined church choir.

On Thursday, a variety show, fashion school, baseball game and square dancing will be featured.

The public is invited to the fair There is no admission charge.

William A. Smith is chairman of the current fair. Other officers include Clifford Naylor, vice-chairman; Mrs Henry Bush, secretary; and Fred F. Herman, treasurer.

Local Police Kept Busy Over Weekend

Monessen police were kept busy over the weekend with a variety of complaints and accidents.

Dave Gibson, of Sixth St. and McKean Ave, Charleroi, told police yesterday that he was struck in the face with a rubber parking cone. He identified his assailant as a "carnival man."

Police later picked up Aubrey Winchester, an employe of Franks Rides. The carnival has set up its equipment in the parking lot directly across from the City Building for a week's stay.

A witness, Pat Ragan, 172 Donner Ave., Monessen, told police that Gibson and Winchester engaged in a conversation at the corner of Second St. and Donner Ave. According to the witness, Gibson struck Winchester, who in turn swung at Gibson with the parking cone and then fled.

Police also had two "disorderly conduct" cases on the docket.

Mrs. John Buckera, of 928 Chestnut St., Monessen, reported to police Friday that her estranged husband kicked in a window and entered her home. Mrs. Buckera said he refused to let her enter the house.

Buckera was arrested on a drunk and disorderly conduct charge.

George Rusnak, 713 South 14th St. complained to police early today that his son Edward broke the glass in the front door of his home and tore a telephone off the wall.

A minor accident was reported over the weekend.

Theodore J Gladys, 808 1st St., said that a car operated by Ru-

New Lock May Replace Others

A new lock and dam may be constructed soon at Maxwell, thus eliminating Lock 5 at Brownsville and Lock 6 at Rices Landing.

M. V. Herrington, chief of the U. S. Corps of Army Engineers in the Pittsburgh district, said that actual construction may begin next year.

The project hinges on congressional approval, according to Herrington. The U S. Senate has already appropriated $50,000 to study the practicality of building a new lock at Maxwell.

Herrington pointed out that the proposed lock will produce a higher water pool and reduce operating costs.

More County Fair Winners

The third annual Westmoreland County Fair concluded Saturday with these district farmers winning prizes:

Nelson Lash, West Newton R. D. 1, champion dairy showman and first in dairy showman for third year-and-over members;

Joe Sever, West Newton R. D. 1, first in heavyweight tractor pulling;

Paul Shychuk, West Newton R. D. 1, third in heavyweight tractor pulling;

Frank Sever, West Newton R. D. 1, first in extra heavyweight tractor pulling;

John Brown, Perryopolis, second in extra heavyweight tractor-pulling.

Allegheny Judge Weiss Attacked By County GOP

Judge Samuel A. Weiss, of Pittsburgh, was under attack today from Westmoreland County Republican leaders who questioned his "judicial ethics" in accepting an invitation to serve as toastmaster at a political dinner.

Judge Weiss has been listed as the toastmaster for a meeting of "independent voters" on Sept. 17 at the Baldoc Country Club near Irwin. The "independent" group has already endorsed the three Democratic candidates for the county common pleas bench.

Edwin Swink, GOP chairman in the county, pointed out that Judge Weiss apologized for a "partisan speech" in 1952 before the young Democrats of Allegheny County.

At that time, Judge Weiss in his apology said:

"Nothing destroys the confidence of the courts more than for its judges to become politically minded."

Swink also recalled that in 1955, Judge Weiss sought renomination by both political parties on the ground that "a sitting judge should not have to engage in politics."

"Judge Weiss's concept of a judge's political activity seems to be a matter of time and place," Swink said.

"He apologized in Allegheny County for conduct similar to that which he is reportedly planning in Westmoreland. We would like him to know that judicial ethics are just as important here as in other counties. Or does he have a low opinion of Westmoreland?"

Probe Death of Avonmore Man

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP)—Authorities today investigated the possibility of homicide in the death of an Avonmore man.

Homer C. Shellhamner, 49, died early Saturday after he returned home from a club and fell down cellar steps.

Westmoreland County Coroner Stephen D. Yoney said an autopsy disclosed nine fractures of the skull.

Yoney and state police said it was not likely Shellhamner could have sustained so many fractures in the fall.

John G. Check Dies; Pioneer Business and Political Figure Here

John G. Check, head of a family which has been promiment in the business and political life of Monessen for nearly half a century, died Saturday at the age of 73.

Death occurred at 12:30 p. m. in the Charleroi-Monessen Hospital and was attributed to heart failure induced by a chronic asthmatic condition.

Mr. Check was forced to retire from all activity in 1934 and had been a virtual invalid for much of the time since then.

He was hospitalized for several weeks earlier this year but recovered sufficiently to return to his home at 2024 Grand blvd.

However, he suffered a relapse last week and was taken to the hospital again, and the family was advised that he probably would not survive.

Came to U. S. in 1890s

Born in what is now Czechoslovakia, Mr. Check came to the United States as a young immigrant in the 1890s. His first employment was as a coal miner in Clearfield County, Pennsylvania.

He came to Monessen in 1902, four years after the town was founded and when its steel mills were being built. His first job was in the Pittsburgh Steel Co. plant where he worked as a laborer.

He left the mill in 1915, bought a team of horses and a wagon and went into the hauling business. He was soon dealing in second-hand furniture, and this led to the opening of a small store on Sixth St.

The business prospered, and an undertaking service was added. The combination was a common one at that time.

As his business developed, Mr. Check acquired considerable political influence, especially among citizens of Slovak origin. He was elected to the borough council.

When Monessen became a third class city in 1921, he was elected to the first city council and served in that office for 13 years during a period of great expansion.

Monessen was predominantly Republican at that time, and Mr. Check was influential both locally and in Westmoreland County in GOP affairs.

He was elected to council four times, usually by large majorities, and served three full terms of four years each. He was elect-

Pittsburgh Steel Executives to Support Drew

Two top executives of the Pittsburgh Steel Co. have signed up for active roles in Pittsburgh's mayoralty campaign this fall.

They are Allison R. Maxwell Jr., president, and Joseph G. Smith, vice-president.

Maxwell and Smith have joined a number of other Pittsburgh business leaders in forming the "Citizens Committee for Drew and the Republican Party".

The committee will back John Drew, GOP nominee for mayor of Pittsburgh, against the veteran Mayor David L. Lawrence.

In previous campaigns Lawrence has usually had important support from business and financial interests usually identified with the Republican party. These have included associates of various Mellon enterprises.

Several Mellon officials, however, are included on the Drew committee.

State Enters Case of Libel In New Castle

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Justice Department today obtained warrants for the arrests of eight New Castle Republicans on charges of consipracy and libel during the GOP primary in Lawrence County last May.

Attorney General Thomas D. McBride said the department entered the case becaus the alleged libel was directed against political opponents of the incumbent district attorney and sheriff.

He said the action stemmed from a lengthy investigation by state police under the direction of a deputy attorney general.

"For the purpose of present and future proceedings involving these charges as well as any other charges which may be brought at any future time concerning the same or related subject matter, I have superseded the district attorney," McBride said.

A department spokesman said the alleged libelous written and printed matter was distributed during the May 22 primary against election opponents of District Attorney Perry L. Reher and Sheriff Frank L. Coen.

State Police Lt. Richard D. Gray filed formal complaints earlier today before Justice of the Peace C. E. Anderson, Neshannock Twp, Lawrence County, against: Frank Acquaviva, Samuel F. Ascione, Ben Ciccone, Patsy A. Dando, Adolph E. Gennaro, Frank Natale, Sally Saunders and Edward E. Tucker.

City to Install Meters on Two Downtown Blocks

Parking meters will be installed on two blocks of Schoonmaker Ave from Second St. to Oneida St., Monessen Police Chief Michael Kuvinka announced today.

Kuvinka said plans for the meter installation are now being prepared by the city engineer.

According to Kuvinka, no new meters will be purchased. Instead the city will use the meters previously removed when sections of Donner and Schoonmaker avenues were converted to one-hour limits.

Kuvinka said City Council approved the new meter area after receiving requests from the neighborhood.

The meters in the two block area will have a time-limit of two hours and will accept both pennies and nickels. The exact number of meters to be installed has not been determined.

Ellsworth Youth Crushed by Barge

BROWNSVILLE (UP)—Joseph Hreha, 15, of 34 Sycamore St., Ellsworth, Washington County, was killed Sunday when he was crushed between an anchored barge and a mooring in the Monongahela River.

Waves from the wake of a passing barge caused the anchored barge to shift toward the mooring.

Two companions who had been swimming with Hreha were on the anchored barge when the mishap occurred.

The accident occurred near Millsboro, 10 miles south of here.

Two Injured In Separate Area Crashes

Two persons were injured in separate but similar accidents on district highways over the weekend.

William R. Brewer, 39, of Clairton, suffered severe cuts of the face on Saturday when his car failed to round a curve on Route 71 three miles east of Belle Vernon, then crashed into a utility pole.

Brewer was reported in satisfactory condition today at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital.

Police estimated damages at about $500

A Charleroi man, Walter W. Smith, 21, suffered bruises when his car ran off of Route 19 five miles north of Waynesburg and struck a tree, overturning in a field.

Smith did not require treatment, state police said. His car, valued at $2,800, was completely demolished, according to police.

Begin Selecting Jurors in Area Murder Trial

The selection of jurors began today in Greensburg for the murder trial of Edward Bank, 30, of Green Hill in Pricedale.

Bank is accused of killing his 26-year old wife on April 4 after a quarrel in Pricedale.

According to Chief County Detective Arthur (Buddy) Turner, Bank has admitted shooting his wife, Ruby, at almost point blank range with a 12-gauge shotgun. Death was instant.

The shooting took place near the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rone, of Pricedale. Police said Bank and his wife became involved in an argument.

Reportedly Bank left the house, then returned with a shotgun. When his wife refused to accompany him home, he shot her, police said.

Bank was arrested shortly after the shooting in Pricedale.

The dead woman was survived by seven children.

Bank is being represented by Monessen attorney Frank Ezerski, who was appointed by the court.

Prosecution Says Soldier Fired At Other Japs

MAEBASHI, Japan (UP)—The government charged today that Specialist 3C William S. Girard fired "two or three times" at other Japanese before he fired the shot that killed Mrs. Naka Sakai and started a passionate international controversy.

The prosecution read its statement on the opening day of the trial. At the end of the day, trial was adjourned until Sept 6. During the opening moments Girard pleaded innocent to manslaughter charges and his attorney made a motion to get the case thrown out of Japanese courts.

The prosecution statement said that on the same day Girard fired at Mrs. Sakai he also fired at the feet of a man identified as Isamu Yadoyara and at scrap scavengers named Toshizo Koyama and Katsuzo Kanae.

Nine Witnesses to Testify

Chief Procurator (prosecutor) Yoshio Konawa announced he would call nine witnesses to testify, including Girard's Army buddy Specialis 3C Victor Nickel of Inkster, Mich., who was with Girard at the time of the shooting.

The prosecution charged that Girard lured Mrs. Sakai toward him by throwing out used cartridges and calling "mama-san, takusan ne (woman, plenty, eh." It charged he fired one shot at Hidcharu Onozeki, who was with Mrs. Sakai, just missing his feet, and then loaded his grenade launcher again.

It said Girard ran toward Mrs. Sakai, shouting "get out, hey," and fired from a distance of about eight meters (eight yards, hitting her in the back.

Judge Juzo Kawachi adjourned the first day's session after the prosecution completed its opening statement.

Reserves Decision

Girard's attorney, Itsuro Hayashi, one of Japan's top criminal lawyers, asked to have the trial thrown out of Japanese courts on jurisdictional grounds.

Japanese trials usually run for months with frequent and lengthy recesses. However, Judge Kawachi had promised that he would speed up the trial as much as possible without interfering with the procedure of the court and the fairness of the treatment of the defendant.

Judge Kawachi reserved decision.

It was the jurisdiction issue that sparked the controversy in the United States with congressmen and veterans' groups criticizing the United States for turning Girard over to Japan. The U.S. Supreme Court ruled the government had the right to take such action, but the critics demanded that the status of forces agreements, which gave the administration the right, be thrown out.

Girard, 22, of Ottawa, Ill., was accused of shooting and killing Mrs. Sakai, mother of six children, on a U. S. Army firing range while she was gathering shell castings to sell as scrap metel. If convicted, Girard faces a possible sentence of from two to 15 years imprisonment.

Girard declared his innocence at the opening of the trial when Judge Kawchi asked him if he had anything to say.

Girard spoke in a voice almost inaudible to spectators in the first row seats:

"I did not scatter shells or lure anyone," he said. "I did not intend

Plane Crashes; Homes Burning

PITTSBURGH (UP) —An airplane, believed to be a military aircraft, crashed today at nearby Clinton, Pa., a small community near the Greater Pittsburgh Airport. First reports said several homes were set on fire.

State police headquarters at nearby Carnegie, Pa. said the plane hit a house and exploded.

"It set several homes on fire," a trooper said.

Reports from the scene said three homes were burning and a fourth was threatened.

The body of the pilot was thrown from the plane and was found in a nearby creek.

The crash occurred shortly before noon.

The wife of a constable at nearby Imperial Pa., said reports telephoned to her said the plane hit the home of John Maxwell on Clinton Road in Clinton.

Clinton is a small community of about 600 persons on Route 30 several miles west of the airport which is 15 miles from Pittsburgh.

The Greater Pittsburgh Airport director's office said they understood the plane was either an Army or Navy craft.

Pittsburgh Cake Mix Pioneer Is Hurt in Crash

SPRINGVILLE, N.Y. (UP) — John D. Duff, 74, board chairman of Smith-Duff Co. of Pittsburgh, was in serious condition today at Chaffee Hospital with injuries suffered in an automobile accident during the weekend.

Two passengers in the Duff automobile, Melvin Best, Jr., 15, and his brother, John, 12, sons of a Pittsburgh pastor, were treated at the hospital for minor injuries.

Police said Duff was thrown from his vehicle when it collided with another auto at the intersection of Routes 219 and 39 near here. He suffered a fractured skull in addition to other injuries.

The driver of the other car, Mrs. Dorothy Fitzgerald, 42, Brookville, Pa., and two passengers in her car, W. D. Fitzgerald, 45, and Alice Patricia Fitzgerald, were treated for minor injuries.

The Bests were returning to Pittsburgh while Duff, a pioneer in the development of cake mixes, was en route from Conesus Lake to Van Buren Point, N.Y., near Dunkirk.

State Denies Plans to Close Health Centers

A state Health Department official said today there were no "immediate plans" for the closing of the Monessen or any of Pennsylvania's other 91 tuberculosis clinics.

Dr. Thomas J. Millington, director of the Bureau of Preventive Services, conceded the department recently completed a re-evaluation survey of the clinics to determine if any could be consolidated with others to compensate for a departmental budget reduction.

However he denied that the Monessen clinic would be merged.

Mrs. Ruth Hoover Conrad, who is in charge of the local clinic, said earlier that she understood the lease on the clinic site at 279 Schoonmaker Ave. was to be terminated as of November 30.

Mrs. Conrad also disclosed that the one-day fall orthopedic clinic in Monessen has been ordered cancelled

Children who were due to be examined will have to report to clinics in either Greensburg or Washington, Mrs. Hoover said. The past orthopedic clinic in Monessen handled 88 cases.

At these clinics, children were given complete examinations by specialists who made a diagnosis of each case. The state nurses then followed up to see that indigent cases were taken care of.

The tuberculosis clinic in Monessen was open daily, with examinations conducted on Wednesdays. Classes for expectant mothers and other similar services were offered during the week.

Two registered nurses and a clerk work out of the Monessen office which services an area that includes 85,000 persons. In addition to Mrs. Conrad, the other nurse is Charlotte Schmidt, of West Newton.

In denying that the Monessen clinic would be closed, Dr. Millington did not indicate whether a new location would be secured.

Judge Weiss Hands Out First Decisions

In his first case, Judge David Weiss today fined three men and ordered them to pay costs on charges of driving after their operators licenses were suspended.

Judge Weiss, the first Monessen man ever to serve on the Westmoreland County bench, fined William Shaffer, Pittsburgh $250; Telford J. Henry; North Braddock, $100; and Alvin Campbell, Ligonier, $150.

Judge Weiss was appointed to the bench by Gov. George Leader and was sworn-in Aug. 16. He is a Democratic nominee for a full 10-year term in the November election.

County Republican Chairman Says Many Democrats to Support GOP

Westmoreland County Democrats in important numbers are prepared to support one or more of the three Republican candidates for common pleas judge, according to GOP Chairman Edwin A. Swink, of Mt. Pleasant.

This observation was one of several made by Swink in discussing Republican campaign plans with The Daily Independent Saturday.

Friday night, the chairman and four other party leaders from Westmoreland County held a prolonged strategy conference with state Republican Chairman George I. Bloom.

The meeting was held in Washington, Pa., as one of a series in which Bloom is attempting to help county and district leaders set up their campaign plans.

Besides Swink, the Westmoreland group included Daniel J. Snyder Jr., treasurer of the GOP county committee; Mrs. Emma Watt McIntire, vice-chairman; Mrs. Carl Anderson, state committeewoman, and John Jenks, Young Republican chairman.

Swink said the group had dinner with Bloom and conferred with him for nearly two hours afterwards.

"We talked mainly about finances and other help which might come from the state organization," Swink said. "I'm not at liberty to give you the details, but we came away very much encouraged."

According to Swink, Bloom and other state party leaders regard the Westmoreland campaign as one of the most important in Pennsylvania this year.

"This is the only one of the 67 counties," said Swink, "in which three judges and a district attorney are to be elected, in addition to other courthouse officials. So it is very important that we have an aggressive campaign and make a good showing."

A definite split exists in the Democratic party in the county, Swink said.

"I am hearing many comments, including some from influential leaders, that they are fed up with the courthouse gang and are ready to join with us to clean house," the chairman said.

Asked whether such people are expected to support the entire Republican ticket, Swink replied:

"It's too early to tell about that. We'll have to wait for the sentiment to crystallize."

He said he is positive that the three judgeship candidates, Avra N. Pershing Jr., Robert H. Rial and Willis E. Topper, already are receiving individual support from some Democrats.

"Some say they are for Rial, some for Pershing and some for Topper," Swink said. "But I think

Many Are Killed in State Accidents

At Least 21 Dead Reported

By UNITED PRESS

Pennsylvania motorists turned in one of the blackest records of the year over the weekend. Highway accidents killed more than a score of men, women and children in a toll that exceeded the casualty list of most holiday periods.

A United Press tally showed at least 21 persons died in a series of accidents occurring throughout the state since Friday night. Scores more were injured in minor crashes.

Two triple-fatal crashes contributed to the heavy death count. The first occurred early Saturday near Indiana in Cambria County and took the lives of two teen-aged boys and an 18-year-old girl. The second was a two-car collision near Philadelphia which killed a six year old Darby, Pa. girl and two other persons late Sunday.

The fatalities:

Philadelphia: A two-car collision in Tinicum Twp. near the Philadelphia International Airport killed Linda McConnell, 6, a man identified as her father, John McConnell, and a woman tentiuvely identified as Orphelia Edwards. Eight other persons were injured in the crash late Sunday night.

Indiana: Two Cambria County youths were killed instantly and a girl was fatally injured early Saturday when their automobile struck a bridge abutment and dropped into Twolick Creek six miles east of here. The victims were William F. Strenko, 17, Barnesboro RD 2, the driver; Gene F. Toth, 18, Spring Hill, and Linda Lou Miller, 18, Vintondale.

Titusville: Army Cpl. Donald S. McElhaney, Jr., 22, Tryonville, Pa., became the seventh member of his family to die a violent death. McElhaney, driving home early Sunday morning from a a date, lost control of his car and ran off the road along Route 27 three miles east of Titusville. McElhaney's mother, four sisters and a brother were burned to death at Townville, Pa., in 1953. McElhaney saved another brother from the blaze.

Doylestown: Roy Hunter, 58, of Lahaska, Bucks County, was killed late Sunday when his automobile missed a turn on Route 202 near Doylestown.

Beaver Falls: Aaron H. Wotk, about 30, Denver, Colo., was killed late Saturday when his tractor-trailer overturned in a collision with a light truck on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near the Ohio border. A helper on the rig, Ivan Kraft, 33, and two occupants of the light truck were hurt.

Philadelphia: Mrs. Margaret Paucielio, 26, Philadelphia, was injured fatally and five other persons injured Saturday when two automobiles collided at a West Philadelphia intersection. She died two hours after the accident in Philadelphia General Hospital.

Hanover: Eugene Kinnedinst, 20, Hanover, died enroute to Hanover Hospital Saturday of a crushed chest and internal injuries suffered when the automobile in which he was a passenger rammed a utility pole near here. Two others were injured.

Millertown: Doyle Packard, 27, Bellefonte RD 2, died of a crushed chest suffered Saturday when the tank truck he was driving went out of control and plunged into the Juniata River after crossing several fields and bouncing down three embankments.

Pittsburgh: Ronald McKelvey, 19, North Hills, was killed early Saturday when his automobile skidded on Babcock Boulevard and struck a guard rail.

Pittsburgh: Patricia Ashbaugh, 25, Pittsburgh, was injured fatally early Saturday when her automobile struck a tree in the city's Squirrel Hill district. Three passengers were hurt.

Pittsburgh: R. Neal Stewart, 14, Coraopolis, was killed Friday night when he was struck by a light truck driven by Janet Wade, 21, Moon Twp.

Uniontown: Charles R. Clements, 10, Uniontown RD 1, was killed Friday when he rode his bicycle from a driveway into the path of an automobile.

He did say appropriations earmarked for operation of the clinics had not been reduced, but that funds for other programs had been slashed.

"We are all one big family," Dr. Millington said. "We hope to spread out departmental funds as far as possible by economizing in one program for the benefit of another."

Millington said some clinics were under consideration for consolidation with others in the same area, but that nothing definite had been settled.

He declined to name the clinics being considered for possible merger, but added the clinic at Monessen was not one of them.

Johnson for Some Foreign Aid Increase

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson told President Eisenhower today he will support "a substantial increase" in the foreign aid appropriation—but well below what Eisenhower wants.

The Texan made the statement at a breakfast meeting with the Chief Executive.

He told reporters afterward that he thought the Senate would restore about 500 million of the 809 million dollars the House slashed from the foreign aid program. The final appropriation, he said, would be in the neighborhood of three billion dollars

The new compromise civil rights bill and particularly the deeply-cut foreign aid appropriations bill were almost certain to figure in the discussion. The President has urgently called for restoration of the more than 800 million dollars slashed from the foreign aid program by the House.

Bills Chief Items

The two bills are the chief items holding up adjournment of the 85th Congress' 1957 session. The target now for adjournment is the end of the week

The Senate Appropriations Committee called a meeting for a few hours after the White House breakfast to vote on the foreign aid bill.

Most informed Senate sources forecast the committee would restore 300 to 500 million dollars, but not the full amount cut by the House. Eisenhower has sought the full $3,367,000,000 authorized by Congress earlier this month.

At the same time, Democratic-GOP forces prepared to make fast work of the civil rights bill. With its compromise jury trial amendment.

Members of the House Rules Committee planned to call a meeting over the head of Committee Chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va) and speed the bill to the House floor for passage Tuesday

Southern senators planned to attack it when it reaches the Senate But there was no hint of a filibuster which appeared to be the only thing that could impede its greased passage through both houses.

The Senate while awaiting the civil rights bill drove for a final vote on a bill aimed at protecting the sanctity of the FBI files.

The bill is directed at the Supreme Court ruling earlier this year that defendants in criminal cases have the right to examine the FBI reports of government witnesses who testify against them.

as the campaign develops these independent Democrats will realize that there is just one way to do this job right — elect all three of the Republican candidates."

Informal discussions have been held, Swink said, as to the advisability of opening a separate headquarters for Republicans, Democrats and independents to support the GOP candidates for judge and district attorney.

"Maybe it's asking too much of a good Democrat to go in and out of Republican headquarters," he said. "And we'll certainly be glad to cooperate in any effort that will bring about a joint campaign."

Swink admitted that the organization is having financial difficulties. He confirmed reports that differences have arisen among the party officials as to how much money will be needed and how it should be raised

"We explained our differences to Mr Bloom," Swink said, "and I think everything will be ironed out shortly and we'll have enough money to put on the kind of campaign these fine candidates deserve."

He declined to say how much this would be.

The county committee has already engaged W. Lowrie Kay, former Latrobe newspaper editor, as publicity chairman for the campaign.

Kay, who conducts a public relations and advertising business, went to work today on a part-time basis.

The Young Republican organization is expected to be given a greater voice and more to do in this campaign than ever before.

Swink indicated that this is one of the points Bloom is stressing in his meetings with party leaders around the state.

There was no commotion outside the courthouse, but a self-appointed Japanese champion for Girard passed out leaflets demanding a light sentence for the American soldier.

Police Quiz Pair in Slaying of Gambler

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Detectives investigating the slaying of big-time Wheeling gambler Nick Miller concentrated their inquiry today on an Ohio used car dealer and a red-haired woman, who admitted being friendly with the West Virginia underworld figure.

Chief of Allegheny County detectives Henry W. Pieper said the two Ohioans, Jack (Doggy) Russell, 56, Cleveland, and Mrs. Ruby Harrington, alias Vickie Morris, 25, of Mt. Vernon, were questioned at length here Sunday. Pieper said the interogation would continue today.

Pieper said both had admitted being with Miller in the taproom he operated, reputedly in conjunction with a gambling establishment, in Wheeling.

Miller's body, clothed only in shorts and socks, was found crammed into the trunk of his car last Thursday. The machine was parked in suburban Wilkinsburg. An autopsy disclosed he had been dead for about five days, but the cause of death was not established.

County detectives questioned Mrs. Harrington at her home in Ohio last Saturday and a pickup order was sent out for Russell. Both turned up at county detective headquarters voluntarily Sunday.

Pieper would not disclose the direction of the inquiry other than that Russell and Mrs. Harrington had been with Miller prior to his disappearance from Wheeling Aug. 17. Miller apparently left the city after telling his family he was going on a short vacation.

Mrs. Harrington told detectives she had spent the night of Aug. 16 with Miller and that he drove her to the airport the next day and bought her an airplane ticket for Columbus. Pieper did not disclose when Russell said he last saw Miller.

"They both admitted to being friendly with Miller," the detective chief said. "But they both say they were surprised to hear of his death. They said the first they heard about the death was reading it in the papers."

Miller, an associate of Wheeling gambler and former race track owner William (Big Bill) Lias, was reported to have gone to Steubenville, Ohio, Aug. 16 to collect a gambling debt for a syndicate on a commission basis. He was not reported seen again until the body was found.

U. S. Newsmen Rejected By Communist China

Want OK for Reds to Report To United States

WASHINGTON (UP)—The hot potato of whether American newsmen should go to Red China today was back in the determined but nervous hands of the U.S. State Department.

The controversy headed back to its starting point when Radio Peiping served heated notice Sunday that no American newsmen would be allowed in Communist China unless Red Chinese newsmen were given permission to report from the United States.

The Peiping radio broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, quoted the Peiping People's Daily, the official mouthpiece of the Red Chinese regime which invariably voices the government's views.

Charge "Discourtesy"

The newspaper charged the United States with "discourtesy" in refusing reciprocal visas to Chinese newsmen and said the State Department decision to allow 24 U.S. newsmen to go to China is "completely unacceptable. . ."

The State Department immediately said it would stand firm.

The department's stand drew an immediate blast from Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), who introduced a Senate resolution last Monday calling for removal of the administration ban against letting U.S. newsmen visit Red China.

"If our script is better than theirs why isn't it good policy not to let everyone know about it," Fulbright said

Hurl Spy Charge

The broadcast accused the United States of wanting to send the newsmen as "spies" and to "create trouble."

State Department officials said they based their stand on the fact the United States does not maintain diplomatic relations with Red China.

The officials also scoffed at the charge that any of the newsmen could possibly be spies. They pointed out the reporters all were to be chosen by their own news organizations and the department would have no hand in the selection.

Syrian President to Spike Red Rumors

By UNITED PRESS

Syrian President Shukri el Kuwatly was back in Damascus today, presumably to pick up the reins of government and spike reports Communist forces had gained control in Syria.

Kuwatly flew back to Damascus Sunday from Cairo where he conferred for some two hours with President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt. The Syrian President's sudden departure for "medical treatment" in Egypt last week had touched off reports of a political crisis stemming from the appointment of a pro-Soviet officer as army chief of staff.

Western concern at the Syrian developments was manifested by the hurry-up trip of a top U.S. diplomatic troubleshooter to Turkey to discuss with pro-Western leaders in the Middle East possible measures to counter the threat of Soviet domination of Syria.

U.S. Deputy Undersecretary of State Loy Henderson was dispatched from Washington Friday to Istanbul to discuss the situation in Syria where pro-Communist forces appeared to have gained control.

Since arriving in the Turkish capital Saturday, Henderson has conferred with Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes and President Celal Bayar and King Hussein of Jordan. Hussein, and King Feisal of Iraq, came to Istanbul earlier in the week for "vacations."

Henderson conferred for 30 minutes with Hussein Sunday before the young King flew on to Madrid. Hussein last spring accused Syria of complicity in a leftist plot to overthrow his pro-Western regime.

The American diplomat also has talks scheduled with Feisal and leaders of the Turkish government.

Brewery Pact Is Accepted

PITTSBURGH (UP) — The 1,500 employes of the Pittsburgh and Duquesne Brewing companies have voted 631-275 to accept a contract calling for a 22½ cent hourly pay increase during the next two years. The pact also gives each worker holiday pay on his birthday.

The new contract provides for an immediate 10-cent hourly pay boost retroactive to August 1, a 2½ cent boost February 1, and 10 cents more August 1, 1958.

It also provides hospital insurance improvements and an increase in pension allowance from $27 to $56 per month.

The new contract was expected to set a pattern for contract talks with Latrobe, Fort Pitt and Jones Brewing companies, which employ a total of about 500 workers.

Leader Asked To Discuss Shapiro Order

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader has been asked to meet with Republican legislature leaders this week in their attempt to block a state Welfare Department order for eviction of employes living in homes on the grounds of state mental institutions.

The move was initiated by Senate Majority Leader Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford) who termed the year-old order issued by Welfare Secretary Harry Shapiro "dictatorial."

Shapiro recently followed up his orignial order of Aug. 20, 1956, with a letter reminding boards of trustees of the 21 state hospitals they should remove from state-owned dewllings all personnel except those required for the protection and care of properties and patients.

Mahany said the boards of trustees generally are opposed to the order "but are powerless unless the governor sees the wisdom of cancelling this dictatorial order."

He asked the governor to meet with him and other GOP leaders Wednesday because they will be in the capitol to attend a meeting of the General State Authority board.

County Men Die in Plane

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP)—Two Pennsylvania men were killed and a 9-year-old boy injured when their light plane ran into fog and crashed 15 miles east of here Sunday.

Dead were James W. Davis, 46, of Kittanning, Pa., the pilot, and Don Joseph Carney Sr., 32, of Vandergrift, Pa. In fair condition in a Columbus hospital was Carney's son, Don Jr.

State highway patrolmen said the pilot apparently thought he was flying level in the dense fog bank when he actually was driving toward the ground. The plane struck at about a 45 degree angle.

Malaya to Observe 'Merdeka' After Century of British Rule

By HAROLD GUARD

LONDON (UP) — The word throughout the far-off federation of Malaya today is "merdeka."

That means "freedom," a term which will describe Malaya's condition as of next Saturday. For on Aug. 31, Malaya becomes a fully independent nation within the commonwealth after more than a century of British rule.

After years of agitation and negotiation, the Malaya won their right to freedom on Aug. 5. On that date, an agreement was signed in the capital at Kuala Lumper turning the federation loose from London's control.

High Commissioner Sir Donald MacGillivray signed for Britain. The rulers and lesser nobles signed for the nine federated Malaya states. A bust of ueen Victoria looked down solemnly on the proceedings as they signed a total of 40 documents setting out the terms of independence.

In brief, these provided that "the settlements should cease to form part of her majesty's dominions" and that "all power and jurisdiction of Her Majesty or of the British Parliament should come to an end."

That end comes Saturday, when the cry of "merdeka" will ring out to the accompaniment of exploding firecrackers and the gaiety of celebrations in every town and village of the new peninsula nation on the southeast tip of Asia.

Under the new arrangement, Malaya will have its own elected paramount ruler of Yang Di-Pertuan Bazar, a state legislature, its own defense forces, and full control over its foreign affairs and finances.

The first premier will be Tungku Abdul Rahman, who piloted Malaya through the intricacies of international politics to independence. The first paramount ruler will be the present sulton of Negri Sembli, whose name is the same as that of the prime minister. The sultan was elected for a five-year term by the rulers of the various states in the country.

The independence day celebrations will attract dignitaries from throughout the world, with the duke of Gloucester representing Queen Elizabeth in Kuala Lumpur.

Merdeka Day will mark the end of an era dating back to the late 18th and early 19th centuries, when the first British connection with Malaya originated.

French Balloonist Dies in Accident

SAINT FLORENT LE VIEIL, France (UP)—Georges Cormier, 83 year-old dean of French balloonists, was fatally injured Sunday when an errant gust of wind caught his balloon during his 500th flight.

Cormier was bringing his balloon back to earth when a strong wind seized the balloon and sent it bouncing across fields and hedges. When rescuers finally caught up with the apparatus, Cormier was gravely injured. He died an hour later.

N. Y. Fire Under Control

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (UP)—The worst New York state forest fire in 23 years was under control northwest of here today after charring 4,000 acres of woodlands and imperiling two villages.

Bulldozers completed an entrenchment Sunday night around the raging blaze as more than 1,000 weary volunteers, including personnel from the air base here, struggled to halt the flames.

A light rain fell on the smouldering woods Sunday night and more rain was predicted for today, reducing the threat of the fire re-igniting as it did last week.

The blaze started Tuesday when an unidentified person cutting brush sliced through a power line strung along the ground. It was brought under control Wednesday but was whipped up again by strong winds the next day.

Sheriff Emmett J. Ducatte declared an emergency Sunday and called for civil defense assistance, with the adjacent counties of Essex and Franklin alerted under a mutual aid plan.

Milk tankers and cement mixers were pressed into service during the week end to haul water for booster lines.

State Conservation Commissioner Sharon J. Mauhgs said the fire was the worst in the state since 1934.

The fire narrowly missed engulfing the villages of Altoona and Sciota, about 15 miles north of here.

Steel Production May Match Record Output

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP)—Steel ingot production inched up another 1.5 points to 82 per cent of rated industrial capacity last week to the highest total since late June, boosting hopes of industry officials that the year's total yield will match the record output of 117 million tons set in 1955.

The mills output rose for the second consecutive week to a net yield of 2,099,000 tons, Steel magazine said.

The weekly publication pointed out that the 1957 yield may easily match the 1955 record if the climb continues sufficiently for an average of 85 per cent output during the fourth quarter. Production during the first eight months of 1957 has been sufficiently large to provide a necessary base, the magazine said.

Particularly encouraging, Steel said, was the fact that steelworks operations showed increasing activity without start of the contemplated large orders from automotive manufacturers and appliance producers.

The metalworking weekly said only a small amount of steel is on order for early delivery on the 1958 model cars. One major producer of cold-rolled carbon sheets indicated that automotive orders—when they start rolling in—may push up the steel operating rate by at least five points.

Evidence of the upswing in the appliance industry was served earlier in the week by officials of the Westinghouse Corp. Some 500 employes will be contacted for recall to the Mansfield, Ohio, plant by Sept. 9. Another 100 workers had been called back the week before.

The growth in auto and appliances is expected to stimulate production of many allied industries—such as stampings and castings.

However, the barometer of the industry's production table forecasts a possible downturn in production during the last half, Steel warned.

Steelmaking scrap prices, which generally indicate future mill fluctuations, slipped 33 cents during the week to $53.50 per gross ton. Accordingly, mills are refraining from placing large tonnage orders and are noncommittal on buying plans, Steel said.

The publication's arithmetical composite on base prices of finished steel remained at $146.19 per net ton, where it had been since the week ended July 17.

Action Needed by GOP in County

SOME small signs are appearing that the Republican organization of Westmoreland County may be getting ready to give the party's candidates in this fall's election something like effective support. If so, it's about time.

This paper has been convinced for years that there is nothing wrong in Westmoreland County's political life that can't be cured through the normal operation of the two-party system. The proper, American, democratic corrective for political excesses of the kind we have had in Westmoreland County for 20 years lies in an effective opposition

This is so elementary a principle that it is a wonder it was not put to use when it first appeared that parts of the government, especially the law enforcement, of Westmoreland County had fallen into unworthy hands. But the fact is that it wasn't. And the county has paid dearly as a result.

* * *

WE CARRY no torch for the parties as such. We are aware that political rot can develop as readily under Republican auspices as under Democratic. And the fact that some individuals now highly placed in the Democratic courthouse machine used to operate under the Republican label is all the proof we need that party philosophy is not a factor in the Westmoreland situation. In fact, it is seldom a serious factor in local politics and government anywhere.

However, it is perhaps more imperative than ever that the Republican candidates in this election, particularly those for the three common pleas judgeships, should be supported by an aggressive, well-financed and expertly directed campaign. And we would certainly hope that the responsible party officials are bestirring themselves in that direction.

The stakes are large. The courthouse machine, using the name of the Democratic party and with a tremendous registration advantage, will try desperately to elect its three candidates, all of whom have long records of subservience and partisanship of the kind which does not belong on the bench.

The only way this calamity can be prevented is by the election of the Republican nominees. And that will not happen if they are not supported by a competent Republican organization as well as by independent voters of both parties who see the danger of having the courts controlled by a discredited political machine.

Look in Mirror

CRITICS who are blaming President Eisenhower because Congress has rejected parts of his legislative program and failed to act on other parts will profit from reading Roscoe Drummond's article on this page today.

As Mr. Drummond points out, citing chapter and verse on several specific issues, those members of Congress who are condemning the President for lack of aggressiveness in legislative affairs ought to look in their mirrors first. The inefficiency of congressional methods, the disposition of Congress do second-guess everybody else and the sheer irrelevancy of at least 50 per cent of everything that's done and said on the floors of the House and Senate — here are the real reasons why Congress gets so little done that needs to be done.

It is undoubtedly true that any genuinely democratic legislative body is going to produce a lot of meaningless huff and puff. It is one of the characteristics of politics, as compared with most other occupations, that people who have big mouths and little brains can sometimes be astonishingly successful in it. It even seems at times that politics puts a premium on the ability to avoid honest work.

We know, of course, that there are many able men in Congress and that many of them work very hard — harder probably than they would need to work for greater compensation in business and the professions. And woe betide the nation when such men cease to find satisfaction in public service!

But it is obvious that there aren't enough such men in Congress to enable it to perform its essential tasks efficiently and with reasonable promptness. And apparently there aren't enough such congressmen to get rid of hoary but senseless traditions like the seniority system which prevent Congress from conducting its business properly and democratically.

Mr. Drummond is right. The pot should quit calling the kettle black long enough to look at its own dismal performance.

Why should it be necessary for so called "strong" Presidents constantly to be cracking a whip over Congress even to get it to vote on important bills? If that's the way things are done in Washington, we'd better find another way.

Merry-Go-Round—

Hoffa Got Aid from Gambler

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — A further link between the Teamster empire of Jimmy Hoffa and the empire of the underworld was revealed in the manner in which Hoffa reached down into Hot Springs, Ark., to hire an obscure Arkansas State Senator as one of his attorneys.

Mr. Pearson

This column has already revealed how A. D. Shelton, brother of the judge who presided over the Hoffa trial in Washington, discussed the Hoffa case with Arkansas State Senator Q. Byrum Hurst, and how Shelton came to Washington in advance of the Hoffa trial and talked to his sister, Judge Burnita Shelton Matthews.

However, here is more information on how the Hoffa defense happened to go all the way to Arkansas, home state of Sen. John McClellan, for an attorney.

The man who arranged for the retention of Hurst was Ralph Pierce, a Chicago gambler who also lives part of the time in Hot Springs.

Pierce is referred to in the Kefauver crime hearings as a member of the Capone syndicate and owner of the Silver Bat at 400 South La Salle St. in Chicago, also an associate of Paul "The Waiter" Ricca. It has now been disclosed by the Senate Rackets Committee that Hoffa's Midwest Teamsters spent $150,000 of union funds to buy the Lake Michigan mansion of gangster Ricca.

To get more details on how an Arkansas State Senator was pulled into the Hoffa trial, I phoned Senator Hurst in Hot Springs and asked him about the circumstances under which he had been retained.

Q. Byrum Hurst's Story

"I have always been a great friend of labor," he replied. "I have known Odell Smith of the Arkansas Teamsters, and once represented the International Woodworkers."

"Isn't it a fact that Ralph Pierce arranged for you to represent Hoffa?" I asked.

"Where did you hear that?" Senator Hurst blurted. He said he knew Pierce, but declined to elaborate on his relationship further.

"How much were you paid for your legal services in Washington?" I asked.

"Nothing, not a cent. I'm sending George Fitzgerald (Hoffa's Michigan counsel) a bill for my expenses — about $2,500. But I don't know that I'll charge anything at all.

"I was happy to come to Washington," the affable Arkansas State Senator continued. "I come up there frequently, have to try cases in Washington from time to time."

"What kind of cases?"

"I just had two divorce cases there last winter."

"Just what did you do for Mr. Hoffa at the trial?" I asked. "What did you do other than have the judge's brother come to Washington to talk to the judge?"

"You got me wrong on that," Senator Hurst replied. "That wasn't why I was retained."

"Then what did you do at the trial?"

"I sat there and listened, and when I thought of a question that ought to be asked, I wrote it down on a little piece of paper."

Clemson Foregoes Cash

It's suspected that some southern colleges didn't read the fine print in a contract with the government involving segregation and may decide to return several million dollars being advanced them on "educational" contracts by the Atomic Energy Commission

One college, Clemson in South Carolina, has already returned a $99,050 contract to Washington rather than comply with federal integration requirements.

What happened was that the AEC is giving federal funds to various universities in order to promote atomic education. The United States has been falling behind Russia in the race to develop atomic scientists, so the AEC is helping colleges buy atomic reactors and laboratory equipment, and is also granting fellowships and endowments totalling $8,000,000.

Stipulated in the government contract, however, is the proviso that "no person shall be barred from participation or be the subject of other unfavorable discrimination on the basis of race, creed, color, or religion."

At least ten southern colleges have signed up and are receiving atomic energy aid. Only one of them, Clemson, has returned its grant so far.

It's a Fact—

George Washington's first inauguration was delayed more than a month because of travel difficulties.

Snow is white because snow crystals reflect and scatter in all directions (diffuse reflections) the light which falls upon them.

Penny Wise, Pound Foolish?

Today and Tomorrow—

Congressional Reform Needed

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

If any executive department of the government were run as inefficiently, as wastefully of time and talent, as unproductively as Congress, every politician on Capitol Hill would be screaming bloody murder.

There would be an avalanche of investigations; everybody would be called on the carpet and heads would roll.

Mr. Drummond

If a newspaper were operated the way Congress operates — the tendency usually being never to do next week what can be put off until next year — frankly, we would never get to press.

Congress loves to give advice to Presidents, Vice Presidents, Secretaries of State, business, labor, loves to give advice to anybody and everybody — except itself.

Isn't it time that Congress, too, looked at itself in the mirror?

Congress Inefficient

All this, I admit, is a pretty vague criticism. It is only fair to ask: Can the complaint be made specific and concrete?

The concrete complaint is that Congress has not organized itself so as to be able to transact each year any substantial portion of the national business or to transact it carefully and thoroughly.

This closing 1957 session of the 85th Congress is a vivid example of eight months of motion with meager results. This Congress approved the Eisenhower Middle-East Doctrine. It seems about to pass a useful right-to-vote bill. It appropriated the money bills and did a few other things. That is about all that is visible to the naked eye.

Congress just didn't have the time or energy or disposition to deal with the rest of its own agenda. It neglected most of the President's legislative requests. It neglected most of the legislative programs of both parties as set forth to the voters in their 1956 national platforms. It failed to deal with health insurance, with widening the coverage of minimum wage, with strengthening social security, with promised amendments to the Taft-Hartley Act, with changes in the immigration laws, with statehood for Alaska and Hawaii (which has been promised for 20 years or more) and with many other matters which both the majority and minority leaders solemnly laid out at the opening of the session.

Failed to Act

I am not arguing that Congress should have enacted all these things. That is another matter. I am simply saying that Congress did not deal with them at all.

Isn't it fair to conclude that when Congress cannot deal with a fair portion of its own agenda, it simply has not organized itself to do its job thoroughly and efficiently?

Can something practical be done about it?

Something practical is being proposed. At least it seems to me practical. Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D. of Washington, who has been around long enough to know at first-hand both the strengths and weaknesses of Congress, is introducing a bill designed:

1 — To divide the congressional year into two separate sessions to deal with two different kinds of matters — a "legislative session" from Jan. 3 to November or until an earlier adjournment, and a "fiscal session" to deal with appropriations only from Nov. 1 to Dec. 31.

2 — To establish the calendar year, Jan. 1 to Jan. 1, as the government's fiscal year instead of June 30 to June 30 as it now is.

Logical Solution

Senator Magnuson argues that the "fiscal session" is the logical and most practical solution to the ever-increasing problem of thorough and timely action by Congress on appropriation bills.

"Sandwiching work on money bills into ordinary legislative business," he says, "makes it almost impossible to meet responsibility for wise and prudent disposition of public funds.

"By contrast, the 'fiscal session' will permit Congress periodically to devote its entire energies to those important matters without the pressure, haste and confusion which have become too often associated with the consideration of money measures."

It could also make the legislative session more efficient and productive. Here is a chance for Congress, which loves to reform others, to reform itself.

At the White House—

Ike Delays Flu 'Shot'

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UP) — Backstairs at the White House:

Flu—possibly Asiatic—has started to show up around the White House but President Eisenhower still prefers to wait until the new flu vaccine is available to "ordinary" people like himself before taking a shot.

His attitude, however unselfish, is causing some headshaking around the government. The Public Health Service wanted the President to be inoculated last week, but if the PHS recommendation had any effect on Eisenhower, it was not evident.

Truth of the matter is the President already has been exposed to flu that may be the Asiatic variety.

Tom Craven Jr., a cameraman for the Columbia Broadcasting System, is in bed now with an illness diagnosed as some kind of flu. Young Craven was close to the President, photographing Eisenhower in his office several times last week, before he came down with the ailment Wednesday.

And at least one member of the large White House staff also came down with some kind of flu last week. This particular person is far down on the staff and undoubtedly has not been in close proximity to the President, himself, in a long time.

Doctors now are making tests to determine whether the two known flu cases were caused by the highly contagious Asiatic flu virus or some other variety.

It is reasonable to assume that the White House, or at least some part of the staff, can be regarded as having been "seeded" with flu virus of some kind.

Also there may be other cases around the executive establishment that have not come to light. In the knowledge that the "seeding" process is under way, some of the top federal authorities on the disease would like very much to have the President go ahead with the Asiatic flu vaccine immediately. But at the time this was written, he would not do it.

His last known position on the subject was stated at his press conference last Wednesday when he was asked if and when he would be inoculated:

"I am going to take it just as soon as ordinary people like I am can get it. Now, that is when I will take it."

"Ordinary people," meaning the general public, probably won't have access to the vaccine in any appreciable volume until the middle or latter part of September. At least one medical expert believes that it would be foolhardy to wait that long to administer the vaccine to the commander-in-chief of the armed forces of the United States.

"Heavens knows," said one doctor, "by the wildest stretch of democracy and modesty, the President of the United States should be protected against the new flu ahead of an Army captain."

The Cynic's Corner—

"Look at it this way . . . in Los Angeles, if we miss a fly-ball, we can blame it on the smog . . . !"

The Lighter Side—

Try Fried Caterpillars, Fresh From Japan

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)—Ulp.

"Would you like some fried caterpillars?" the lady asks.

I guess so. Ulp. Taste dusty and caterpillary. These are appetizers—canned in Japan for you. On the can it says: "Ingredients—caterpillars, salt, cottonseed oil, monosodium glutamate". It also says: "A tribute to the culinary art."

This is the third annual Japan food show at the Japan trade center. Public invited. The press gets a food-tasting preview.

"Try some fried grasshoppers?" Sure. Ulp. Now for some friend bumblebees. I presume the stingers have been removed? "Tee hee," says the lady. On the can are pictures of two flying bumblebees, black-headed, with orange jackets and blue pants. Inside, they lie full-bodied, orange and black. Ulp. Funny, they taste just like caterpillars.

Now some fried ants. Black. Tightly packed, look like caviar. Ulp. Taste gritty. Mr. Yamamoto, Japanese photographer, introduces himself. "How do you feel?" he asks. Crawly — but fine. "Well, I'll wait half an hour and see," he says, and walks away smiling.

You understand, these are whole carcasses—not cut up or sectioned. Two more cans — fried "zaza insects", whatever they are (taste something like anchovies), and fried silk worms (taste like wormy silk). On the cans of both it says: "A riot with your cocktail."

Okay, give me a cocktail and let's have a riot. "Coming right up," says the lady. How nice. A martini with a lily bulb in it. Sip, hmm. Wonder what they call this, a marlily? On the lily bulb jar it says: "This specialty will lend a touch of the mysterious Orient to your entertaining." They're in syrup and taste fine.

A pretty Japanese girl in red kimono approaches, points to the zaza-insect can, grimaces, pats her stomach and says, "You like it?" Can't say as I do. "Ugh," she says.

A Japanese newspaper man, fresh from Tokyo, comes up. Does anybody in Japan eat these bugs? "There are some peculiar people, some connoisseurs," he says. "I could not eat these. Once, when I was little, I have had this fried grasshopper. No more since."

Now for some canned, hard-boiled quail eggs. Very good. Mandarin oranges. Dee-li-shus, as Arthur Godfrey says. Smoked oysters, baby clams, trout au neuniere, broiled shrimp, swordfish. Excellent. O'cha (green tea) ice cream with mandarin sauce. Just fine.

Try some kobu-nuts, a newly-invented snack. They're a dried starch - rice mixture sandwiched between peanut halves and tied together by hand with a ribbon of kobu leaf, a seaweed. Taste great.

A freckled lady introduces herself, Reni Kuhn, from Macy's, a store. "We're stocking some of this stuff," she says. "Next week we're going to have not only fried ants, but chocolate-covered ants, on the market." You're kidding! "No I'm not," she says. "Wonder what they do, dip each ant individually in the chocolate?"

Beats me. What I wonder is how they slaughter them. Do they have a man with a sledge-hammer bopping ants on the head? "No doubt," says the freckled lady.

National Affairs—

Eisenhower-Truman Split Continuing

By DONALD J. GONZALES

WASHINGTON (UP) —President Eisenhower and former President Truman have spoken out individually to try to save the foreign aid program from deep slashes. But the two men still aren't speaking to each other about foreign aid—or anything else.

Observers believe that the feud, after more than five years, is intensifying instead of diminishing. Many efforts to patch up their differences have failed.

Eisenhower made it clear a few days ago that he isn't making any new move to clear up things with his Missouri predecessor. When he called newsmen into his office to make his foreign aid plea, the President talked about how successful the foreign aid program had been since its start back in 1947.

'Greece and Turkey," he recalled, 'started it."

Truman Not Mentioned

The President did not mention that the aid program was initiated by the Truman administration, or that the Greek-Turkish aid program has long been known as the Truman Doctrine.

The Eisenhower - Truman split goes back to the days before the 1952 campaign when Eisenhower decided to take a shot at being the Republican standard bearer. This startled Truman, who once pictured Eisenhower as a possible Democratic runner.

Truman's memoirs bring back a meeting between the two men at the White House in 1948. Truman asked General Eisenhower whether he might ever run for the presidency. According to Truman, Eisenhower promptly produced a copy of one of his letters which read, "The necessary and wise subordination of the military to civilian power will be best sustained when life-long professional soldiers abstain from seeking high political office."

When Things Got Worse

Confidantes of both Eisenhower and Truman believe their split really shifted into second gear in August, 1952. This was in advance of the election, which Eisenhower won. Truman invited Eisenhower to the White House for a conference. Eisenhower turned down the invitation. He said he wanted to be "free to analyze publicly the policies and acts of the present administration whenever it appears to me to be proper and in the country's interest."

In a long-hand letter, Truman shot back saying, 'I'm extremely sorry that you have allowed a bunch of screwballs (politicians) to come between us." He signed the cryptic note, "From a man who has always been your friend and who always intended to be!"

The two men have met each other only twice in the last five years—and those meetings were almost five years ago. They met Nov. 18, 1952 at a White House briefing session after Eisenhower was elected, and again on Inauguration Day, 1953.

As things stand now, it appears that only a real national emergency will heal the rift between the two.

Troychak Tabbed One of Ivy's Best

Monessen's Dennis Troychak, now going great guns for Pennsylvania U. is being touted as one of the best tackles in the Ivy League which undoubtedly brings smiles to long-suffering Steve Sebo. Incidentally, Sebo may shift outstanding halfback Frank Riepel (remember his run against Notre Dame in 1955) to quarterback . . . Apparently the old tie between Connellsville's Henry Oppermann and Notre Dame isn't as strong as it "used to was". Henry is the man who convinced Johnny Lujack Notre Dame was the school to attend but now that Henry's gridder-son has reached college age he's enrolled at Penn State . . . John Rohaley, Redstone top-notch end of last season, is also bound for the Nittany Lion camp.

Lou Kichinko, our press budy, is preparing for his annual trek to the West coast and he'll see a sports event practically every day he's away. In writing to friend to make preparations for his trip he received an answer from one Dave (Hooks) McLaughlin, ex-Monessenite, who is overjoyed at the thought of the New York Giants moving to the Pacific Coast. He hasn't seen a big-league game since he left Monessen years ago . . . Doesn't it strike you as odd that three Steeler quarterbacks suffered thumb injuries. That expression "all thumbs" must certainly apply to the Pittsburghers. We surely hope that's only a pre-season affliction and runs its course before the league games.

Grid Officials Rules Confab Tonight

Tonight at Brownsville High School all valley grid officials are invited to attend a PIAA rules meeting, James Leeper, secretary of the valley arbiters has announced. Other exam sessions will be held on Sept. 3, 9, 16, and 23, Oct. 7 and 21 and Nov. 4 at Brownsville. Jim Clutter will be in charge of the rules interpretations. George Kuvinka is president of the valley group. Leeper also reminds valley officials going on the inactive list that they must report their intentions to Mark Funk, head of the PIAA, and the valley secretary . . . Nick Chomko, who resigned as an assistant coach here recently, is reportedly working for the Westinghouse Corporation.

Midgets Show Real Sportsmanship

Here's an example of real sportsmanship. The Jefferson and Lincoln Midget football teams here practice daily at the Ninth Street Park field with only a wire fence between them and they will be terrific rivals once the season gets underway. Take a lesson, some of you adults . . . The WPIAL Decisions Committee will meet next Tuesday in the Roosevelt Hotel, with two sessions carded, afternoon and evening. Eligibility problems can be presented in writing by member schools at those sessions . . . Dick Linder, the Pittsburgh stock car racer, finished sixth in a 200-mile race at the Wisconsin State Fair this week and received $513 for his efforts. The first placer won $2,901. Steve Mahovlich, former school board member here is enjoying the fishing at Gilbert, Minn. Reports his son caught eight trout on Birch Lake.

Nashua-Swaps Most Satisfying for Arcaro

By EDDIE ARCARO
Written for the United Press

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y (UP) — Gee whiz, boy, writing is much harder than picking winners, not that I'm any good at that either, but trying to pick out the greatest race out of the 20,000 that I have ridden is darn near impossible.

There have been so many races that I enjoyed winning and when you lose they are all bad. Your memory fades a bit at times when you have 25 years of riding to cover and the later races are all much clearer in my mind.

But who can forget the speed with which Whirlaway picked up his fields in his many winning races? Assault didn't have any room to go between Gallorette and Styme in the Butler Handicap but he went through anyway and we won. I really smiled that day.

Enter Citation

Citation was just like driving a Caddy. He could give you speed at any time and more than once during a race to boot. You'd have to search pretty hard to find a gamer horse than Devil Diver and we had many good races together. Picking any one of these would mean leaving the others out. That won't work, so let's make another category: One of the most satisfying.

The Nashua-Swaps match falls into this category because of many reasons. We had been beaten, pretty badly at that, by Swaps in the Derby and now we had another shot at him. Winning any race for Mr. Fitz (Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, veteran trainer) is a pleasure but this one meant a little more to him than most others. His methods of training were on the line and so were the methods used by all the horsemen of the old school in which I had been brought up.

Corbett Kirschner — Sitar Burkett Bender

ROSTRAVER HIGH FOOTBALL COACH WADE BENDER watches as Charles Burkett attempts to get through two "blockers", supported by John Sitar and Paul Kirschner, to get at the "ball-carrier", held by Don Corbett, during opening drills at LaGrange Field where the Leopards are holding their pre-season workouts.

CSL Teams To Resume Tonight

Playoff action in the Monessen City Softball League resumes tonight at Ninth Street Park Game time is 6 o'clock.

PNA goes against Myfords at that time in the second game of their best-of-three series. The PNAers won the first test between the two rivals and another victory tonight would advance them to the finals against the Cro-Ams, dropping the Myfords from playoff contention.

Tony Turcaso will probably be the Myford hurling choice while PNA will probably call upon "Binks" Adamczyk, who started on the hill in the first encounter between the two teams Friday night. He gave up just four singles before losing control in the late innings and being relieved by Paul Petrusky in the seventh.

Turcaso pitched good ball for the losers but was the victim of loose fielding on the part of his mates.

PNA advanced to the semi-finals by winning over the Ravens in the best-of-three series while the Myfords received a bye to the next-to-last round.

Philadelphians Top Monongahela In JL Title Tilt

HARRISBURG (UP)—Philadelphia today held the 1957 championship of the Pennsylvania Junior American Legion.

The team from the Laudenslager post rallied for seven runs in the seventh inning of the final game of the weeklong tourney Saturday to defeat Monongahela 11-10.

Monongahela twice rallied to within one run of Philadelphia in the marathon contest that lasted more than three hours, but each time Bobby Sloan cut off the rally before the score could be tied.

After the game, Charlie Chew of Philadelphia was named the most valuable player, and George Peters of the losing team the best sportsman. Chew was the winning pitcher in two games during the tournament despite the fact he was normally a catcher.

New Eagle 'Cinderella' Nine Wins Second, 4-1

New Eagle's surprising "Cinderella" baseball nine did it again yesterday, topping Charleroi for the second time in three games of their best-of-seven series for the Mon Valley League championship.

To add further insult to the Charleroians, New Eagle topped one of the aces of the Merchants hurling staff, Freddie Briggs, by a 4-1 count at Fayette City in an afternoon tilt.

Tonight the two rivals meet Monongahela's Race Track Field, home park of the Frank Furiga-managed "surprise" team.

Jess Leach fanned eight Charleroi batters as he hurled a six-hitter yesterday. He and Briggs matched shutouts until the seventh.

In the seventh frame Johnny Bewick singled for New Eagle, advanced on a wild pitch and a single by Joe Reale and stole home. Reale meanwhile ending up on third from where he tallied on an error for a 2-0 count.

Two more runs crossed for the eventual winners in the eighth on successive singles by Bewick and Gerlack, both scoring on Ron Pellegrini's double top the score to 4-0.

Joe Kopach doubled in the eighth for the Merchants, Larry Papini and Jim Lazzari singled to prevent a white-washing for the Charleroians.

George Zuraw of the losers and Fred Cox of the winners doubled for the only other extra base blows in addition to Pellegrini's two-bag sock.

Donora PONY Nine In Series Opener Tonight

Donora's PONY League entry meets La Mesa, Calif. in an 8:30 o'clock game as the World Series opens in Washington tonight.

A bus load of players from the Monessen PONY League will attend the series to root for the Donorans who will be representing the Monongahela Valley just as did Monongahela in 1954 when that entry went all the way to cop the title.

Fort Wayne, Ind., and Miami, Fla., will kick off the Sixth Annual PONY League World Series at noon today.

Drawings for the first round of the double elimination tournament were made last night following a banquet for the players and their managers at which Vernon (Goofy) Gomez, former Yankee pitching star, was the principal speaker.

Lufkin, Tex., meets Maywood, Ill., in the second game of the day at 2:30 o'clock; Paducah, Ky., and Waltham, Mass., meet at 6 o'clock, and Donora, Pa., meets LaMesa, Cal., in the final game of the first round at 8:30 o'clock.

Four games are scheduled for both Tuesday and Wednesday, with single games Thursday and Friday nights.

Joliet, Ill., the defending champion, was knocked out of the running in regional tournament by Maywood, Ill.

Joe E. Brown, famous comedian and president of the PONY League, will be present tomorrow for the first game. Stan Musial, Cardinals' star, is expected to attend a game while the St. Louis team is playing in Pittsburgh.

Packers, 49ers Remain Unbeaten

By UNITED PRESS

The San Francisco Forty-Niners and Green Bay Packers maintained their unbeaten, untied records in pro football's "Grapefruit League" during the week end, but they both did it the hard way by coming from behind in the fourth quarter.

In Sunday's only exhibition, the Forty-Niners rallied from a 20-14 deficit to score two touchdowns in the last period at San Francisco and beat Washington, 27-20.

On Saturday night, Green Bay came back for a 17-14 victory over the Chicago Cardinals at Austin, Tex. Also Saturday, the Baltimore Colts held the unbeaten Chicago Bears to a 24-24 tie at Cincinnati and the Cleveland Browns defeated the Pittsburgh Steelers, 28-13.

Only Five Lettermen Greet Lep Grid Coach

Bender Cites Inexperience of '57 Squad But Desire to Play Helps

(This is the second in a series of round-up articles on Valley grid teams. More will follow in the next three weeks, prior to the opening games on September 13 and 14. Monessen will be covered in daily stories here.)

Only five lettermen greeted Rostraver High coach Wade Bender when he announced initial drills last week and a squad of 42 answered the call.

Included in the group were 14 seniors, 15 juniors and 12 sophomores plus one ninth grader, Bob West, who is ineligible for Junior High ball.

The five returning who saw enough action to win an "R" last season include seniors John Bankston, Bob Keith, Paul Kirshner, and Ronnie Phelps. Clyde Kuhn, a junior is the other letterman.

Coach Bender, who is assisted by Larry Gocella, George Estok and Ed Hogan, the junior high mentor, says his squad is inexperienced but "has the desire to play."

"We have a rough schedule with teams like Glassport, Scottdale, Carmichaels and Penn Joint plus the other district rivals who always "point" for us including Bellmar, West Newton, and California. Others on our card are Ellisworth, always a rugged B team and North Huntingdon, growing larger all the time."

Bender points out that this is the first year of football for even some of his seniors.

Other seniors on the squad in addition to the letterman include Gus Allen, John Bolman, Jim Feddock, Don Corbett, Warren Kulik, Steve Matova, Ronald Petro, John Steban, Bill Underwood and Ken Cresh.

Juniors in addition to Kuhn are David Burkes, Charles Burkett, Norman Carson, Richard Carter, Roy Ciferno, Jim Dyer, Joe Fritch, Harry Hale, Walt Karbowsky, Dennis Leeper Don Schmid, Allen Seich, Ralph Snyder, and Tom Strong.

Sophomores out for the first time are Chuck Ahlborn, Walter Anielewski, Carl Beato, Joe Ciferno, Bill Dainty, Gary Harash, Ed Kostella, Bob Little, Jack Pierce, Bob Pollack, Harry Sethman, and John Sitar.

"Despite out inexperience, we hope to improve over our 1-7-1 record of last season when we were sort of feeling our way in my first year at the helm," concludes Coach Bender.

'Hounds Getting Down to Serious Business – 'Nick'

"Now we're getting down to real business", said Monessen High grid coach Armand Niccolai as grid drills moved into the second week.

The early "loosening up" sessions being over the Greyhound coach and his aides are now prepared to go at it in a big way as they try desperately to get a "green" squad ready for a contest against a rugged Windber eleven on Saturday night, September 14.

A few hopefuls dropped off the squad last week, as can always be expected, but the bulk of the 5-p 50-player group reporting originally remains on the predominately sophomore turnout the first day.

Missing this season are many familiar names from the '56 team which posted a mark of 8-2 in 10 games, losing only to Charleroi by one point, and to Trinity in an upset.

Players of the caliber of Carl Crawley, Maurice Mathieu, John Bogovich, Bob Burns, Frank Zoretich, Frank Crisi and many others are gone. Filling the shoes of those mentioned here will be a big job.

Two weeks remain for "Nick" and his assistants to find the answers to filling those vacancies.

Scrimmage sessions like the ones held near the end of last week will help supply some of the answers.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Double-Bogies

Here's an old story: You're bunkered far fro mthe green, with no chance of getting on, regardless of how good a shot you manage to play. So you think to yourself: Shall I take a six-iron, barely clear the top of the bunker for maximum distance, and leave myself another full six-iron to the green? Or should I take a seven-iron, clear the bunker, and leave myself a five-iron to the green?

In this case, the better strategy is to take the deeper club (the seven), for the bunker shot. It won't make any difference whether you play a five-iron or a six-iron for your next shot. But it will make a difference if you misfigure slightly and take a club with which you'll fail to clear the bunker.

Make this a rule: Take long chances only when you're sure they'll pay off.

Nemacolin Pro to Defend PGA Title

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Mike Pavella of Nemacolin Country Club will defend his Tri-State PGA title against a field of about 50 players in the 27th running of the tournament at Shannopin Coutry Club Tuesday.

The three-day tourney consists of 54 holes of medal play. Pavella won the crown by five strokes last year.

In the senior division, for pros over 55, Monty Onoretto, of Pittsburgh Schenley Park is the defending champion.

Solocups Keeps Title

MILWAUKEE (UP) — The Solocup team of Santa Barbara, Calif., successfully defended its 20 - goal national polo championship Sunday by beating the Dallas, Tex., team, 9-4, as Ray Harrington scored six goals.

Pirates Split in Twin Bill With Cubs; Law Stars

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates split a doubleheader with the Chicago Cubs Sunday in their latest renewal of the "battle for the cellar". Vern Law hurled a four-hitter to win the opener, 3-0, and the Cubs came back with a 16-hit attack to take the nightcap, 8-2.

The last place Pirates drew a day off today preparatory to meeting the second place St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday night. Prior to the opening of the regular contest the teams will complete a game suspended in the Cardinal ninth by the Sunday curfew earlier in the season.

Ex-Pirate Dale Long was the hitting star for the Cubs Sunday, getting three of his teams' hits in the first game and then adding three more in the second.

The Pirates won the opener by scoring a pair of runs in the fourth inning on consecutive singles by Bill Virdon, Dick Groat and Frank Thomas, and adding a third tally in the fifth on a single, a ground out and Groat's single.

The Pirates used six pitchers as the Cubs went on a hitting spree in the second game. Starter Whammy Douglas was charged with the loss. Don Elston was the winner, although forced to leave the game in the fifth because of a shin injury suffered when he was struck by Dick Rand's line single two innings earlier.

The Pirates' second-game runs both came on homers. Bob Skinner hit his 10th of the season in the fourth inning and Thomas belted his 28th in the seventh.

Steelers Coax Elbie Nickel Into Returning

OLEAN, N.Y. (UP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers, losers in two preseason exhibitions, will bolster their sagging attack with the return to action of Elbie Nickel, who retired after last season but has responded to Steeler pleas to play one more campaign.

Nickel, pass-catching end and slot back, sat on the bench with the Steelers last Saturday at Akron as they absorbed a 28-13 defeat from the Cleveland Browns. He then held a long conference with head coach Walt Kiesling. Nickel, a veteran of 10 seasons in the National Professional League, announced he would report to the Steeler training camp at St. Bonaventure University here this week.

The Steelers also expect veteran tackle Ernie Stautner to report within a few days. He customarily is a late starter because he operates a drive-in theater at Lake Placid, N.Y., and the training period comes at one of his busiest times of the year.

In the Browns game, the Steeler running attack gained only 16 yards. Pittsburgh found themselves on the Cleveland 30 twice in the first quarter but were unable to move the ball for a score.

A one-yard sneak by quarterback Tommy O'Connell gave the Browns their first touchdown in the second quarter. In the third, they added two more with Preston Carpenter going over on a nine-yard run and a 68 yard scamper up the middle by Jimmy Brown. The final Cleveland score came on Lowe Wren's 44-yard return of an intercepted pass.

Braves Feel They'll Win in Breeze with 'Hurricane' Hazle

By MILTON RICHMAN

The Milwaukee Braves feel they'll win in a breeze, especially now that rookie Bob (Hurricane) Hazle is leveling a path to the pennant for them.

Hazle, a left-handed hitting outfielder brought up from Wichita on July 27, has been Milwaukee's most devastating hitter the past two weeks and now sports a .526 average with 30 hits in 57 times at bat.

Sunday he blasted a pair of three-run homers plus a single for a "perfect day" that powered the Braves to a 7-3 victory over the Phillies and enabled them to stretch their National League lead to 7½ games.

Hazle's spectacular one - man batting show accounted for Milwaukee's last six runs. Southpaw Warren Spahn drove in the first one with a homer off loser Robin Roberts in the third inning en route to his 16th victory. The loss was Roberts' 18th compared with eight victories. Stan Lopata homered for the Phillies.

Chisox Move Up

The Brooklyn Dodgers edged the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-5; the Giants crushed the Redlegs, 10-1; and the Pirates beat the Cubs, 3-0, in the opener, then lost the nightcap, 8-2.

The White Sox tightened the American League race considerably, climbing to within four games of first place by beating the Orioles twice, 6-2, and 3-0, while Detroit defeated the Yankees, 7-2. Cleveland took a pair from Washington, 3-2 and 6-4, and Kansas City beat Boston, 3-2.

Don Drysdale was credited with his 13th victory for the Dodgers although Brooklyn manager Walt Alston had to employ three pitchers — Ed Roebuck, Sandy Koufax and Sal Maglie—to stop the Cards in the ninth.

Mueller, O'Connell Star

Don Mueller drove in three runs for the Giants with two homers and a pair of singles and teammate Danny O'Connell also drove in three runs with a homer, triple and single as five Cincinnati hurlers gave up 15 hits. Ruben Gomez pitched a six-hitter for his 14th victory, blanking the Redlegs until Ed Bailey hit his 17th homer in the ninth.

A four-hitter by Vern Law produced Pittsburgh's victory over Chicago in the opener, but ex-Pirate Dale Long, who got three of the hits off Law, also collected three more in the nightcap to pace the Cubs to victory.

Bob Keegan of the White Sox, thumbing his nose at the traditional jinx that is supposed to follow a no-hit performance, held the Orioles to three hits in winning the opener for Chicago. Keegan, who pitched a no - hitter against Washington in his last previous outing, posted his ninth win. In the nightcap, Sherm Lollar's single with the bases full highlighted a three - run rally in the sixth inning that gave reliever Bill Fischer his fifth triumph.

Sixth Straight For Hoeft

Al Kaline smashed a pair of two-run homers and two singles against the Yankees while southpaw Billy Hoeft helped himself to his sixth victory with a bases-loaded double. Hoeft gave up eight hits, including a first-inning home run to Hank Bauer. Bob Turley was the loser.

The Indians won their opener from the Senators on Jim Hegan's eighth-inning homer. Loser Chuck Stobbs had a 2-0 lead until the seventh when homers by Gene Woodling and Al Smith tied the score. Mike Garcia held Washington to five hits. Ray Narleski had to come to Cal McLish's aid in the ninth inning of the nightcap but he preserved McLish's seventh victory.

Woody Held's ninth-inning home run off Tom Brewer enabled the A's to take over seventh place. The Red Sox had tied the score at 2-2 on Pete Daley's homer in the top of the ninth off winner Tom Gorman. Vic Power and Hector Lopez also homered for Kansas City.

Patterson Denies Racial Remarks Over Fight Purse

SEATTLE (UP) — The controversy over alleged remarks by heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson about "racial prejudice" in his fight with Pete Rademacher was stalemated in the "you-did, no-I-did-not" phase today.

Emmett Watson, reporter for the Seattle Post - Intelligencer, insisted that Paterson made remarks about the $250,000 guarantee being possible only because it was raised in the South.

Patterson denied making the remarks.

Patterson's and Rademacher's camps backed the champion and called Watson's story "ridiculous."

Two newsmen, who said they were present at the interview, said Watson's story was factual.

The controversy broke out after the fight when Watson quoted Patterson as saying:

"In New York they couldn't have raised $250 for this kind of fight. Rademacher couldn't have raised the money in any other place but Georgia or the South. That money had to be raised some place where they don't like colored people... If I had been a white fighter they never would have put up any $250,000 ...The whole show leaves me with a very bad taste in my mouth."

Rathman Sets Record

WEST ALLIS, Wis. (UP) — Jim Rathmann of Miami, Fla., won the 200-mile big car auto race here Sunday with a new track record of two hours, two minutes, and 16 seconds and an average of 98.13 miles per hour.

Midget Football League Preps for 7th Season

Monessen's Midget Football League is currently earnestly preparing for another grid campaign.

The four teams in the local circuit have been drilling for the past week and everybody is "all hepped up" over the coming season.

President Allen Kline says, "We are looking forward to our seventh and best season. Enthusiasm is running high.

Quotes from the various coaches go something like this:

"We are the defending champs and the others must beat us." — Bucky Lutes, Vocational mentor.

"Our big aim this year is to dethrone Vocational" — Carmen DeMarco, head man of the Jeffersons.

Mooney Kachmarik of Frank-Lin — "We are hoping for the best".

Dale Simpson of the Lincolns — "Things will be different this year."

Following is a brief thumbnail sketch of each team, as the entries await "trimming" before examinations by Dr. Heater:

Vocational — "Ramblers" — Coach — Bucky Lutes; Assistants — Earl Crusan, Mil Clickovich and Pappy Johnson; Practice — Lower City Park Field — 5 p. m. daily; Squad of 30 with three returning vets.

Jefferson — "Bulldogs" — Coach Carmen DeMarco; Assistants — Bruce Pezzelle, Adam Masci, Ted Alatsis and Mimi DiFlorio; Practice — Ninth Street Park — 10 a. m. and 5:30 p. m. daily; Squad of 30 with six returning vets.

Frank-Lin — "Golden Hornets" — Coach Mooney Kachmarik; Assistant — Johnny Popovich: Practice — City Park Softball Field — 5:30 o'clock; Uncut squad of 50 with four returning vets.

Lincoln — "Dare - Devils" — Coach — Dale Simpson; Assistants — Leroy Stover, Melvin Mills, and Eddie Lea; Practice — Ninth Street Park 5 o'clock daily; Squad — 28 with seven returning regulars.

The season may open September 10.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning, Aug. 27, at 8:30 from the funeral home followed by additional services at 9 a. m. from St. John the Divine R. O. Church with the Very Rev. John Govrusik officiating. Interment will be in Grandview Cemetery. John L. Kravets, funeral director.

2 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, James M. D'Errico, Jr., who drowned 25 years ago on August 24, 1931.
Midnight stars are gleaming,
Upon a lonely grave,
Where sleeping but not dreaming,
Lies one we loved but could not save.
As we loved him then
We love his memory now.
We think of him in silence,
No eye can see us weep,
But still within our aching hearts,
His memory we will keep.
He bade no one a last farewell,
He said goodbye to none,
The heavenly gates had opened,
And a lovely voice said "Come".
And with farewell unspoken,
He gently entered Home.
Our loved one sleeps in silence,
We'd not disturb his rest,
Sad and lonely are the hearts
Of those who loved him best.
Sadly missed by mother, Mrs Mary Church, Brothers and Sisters

Erma DeShong Honor Guest at Bridal Shower

A pre-nuptial shower in honor of Erma DeShong was held last Tuesday at the home of Pat Hamilton. On Saturday, Miss DeShong became the bride of Donald Seiple at the Webster Methodist Church.

Games were played at the shower, with prizes won by Mrs. Frances Sickels, Mrs. Dolly Greenwood and the guest of honor.

A pink and white color scheme was carried out with a colored umbrella above the gift table on which many gifts were placed.

Hostesses for the affair were Pat Burke, Beverly Sickles and Pat Hamilton.

Also present were Peg Kontz, Eva Seiple, Ann DeShong, Anna Hamilton, Lois and Elaine Ahlborne, Elizabeth and Gloria Foulks, Nancy Morovich, Elizabeth DeShong, Dolores Howenstine and Madge Hamilton.

There will be a choir rehearsal of the community choir tonight at 7 p. m. in the Webster Presbyterian Church. The choir will sing on Wednesday evening at the Rostraver Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Brooks, of Webster, are vacationing in Erie.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Smith and sons, Jan and Garry, of Fellsburg, are vacationing in Michigan.

Rev. John Wesley Shell, of the Webster Methodist Church, has returned home after vacationing in Texas and Louisiana.

Lanes Return from Vacation Motor Tour

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lane and son, Jerry, and Greer Hare of Fayette City R. D. 1 have returned from a tour of New York, New England states, Quebec and Ontario, Canada.

Accompanying them home was Tommy Lane who returned home with his parents after spending two weeks at a fishing lodge in Ontario with Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Wilson of Rostraver Twp. and their nephew, Pat Loudit of Poland, Ohio.

Rev. Raymond Tharpe of the Riverside Tabernacle was the guest speaker on Sunday morning at the Fells Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. William Walker and daughter June and Ida Mae of Webster are vacationing in Michigan.

Webster Men's Class Holds Regular Meeting

The Men's Class of the Webster Presbyterian Church met on Thursday at the home of Elmer Gillingham with William Maurer as devotional leader.

His topic was "Labor and Service."

Rev. George Guest closed the devotions with a prayer.

A discussion followed on employers and employes. A report was submitted by acting secretary William Maurer.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Gillingham.

Others present included Teddy Leonard, Sam Colesemo, Earl Graham, Peter Cupples, Sr., and Peter Cupples, Jr.

'Gordon Hathaway' Has Plenty of Experience

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP) — TV has spawned a curious collection of tag lines — "just the facts, ma'am," "you can't hardly get them no more," "strange things are happening," "and awaaay we go."

The latest candidate for the list seems to be "hi-ho, Steverino," a salutation of limp nonchalance breathed by comic Louis Nye. Nye works under a straw hat and the name of "Gordon Hathaway" on NBC-TV's Steve Allen show.

William Ewald

For those who have been spending their Sundays with Ed Sullivan, it might be explained that "Gordon" is a fellow with a gray-flanneled mouth and Madison Ave. manner. He capers through a weekly gag interview segment, "the man in the street," on the Allen hour. He would seem to be the first successful contribution to comedy based on the giddy characters in advertising.

"I think of Gordon as a fairly important, but not too important, guy at some ad agency — earning maybe $12,500 a year," said Nye during a rehearsal break. "He's married and probably has three kids.

Sound Underneath

"He may sound a little silly, but he's pretty sound underneath. Don't forget he holds down a fairly responsible job. He tries to sound like a hipster, but that's just a cover-up. Actually, he's a kind of wistful character—a guy who'd like to go on an African safari or fight bulls in Spain, but who never will."

A fugitive from Hartford, Conn., Nye, 38, is a veteran campaigner of radio and TV. A straight actor originally, he emoted on a slew of daytime soaps, such evening epics as "Gangbuster," and for a considerable length of time served as "King Bogolu" on radio's "Jungle Jim."

"That Bogolu was a wonderful role," recalled Nye. "I just made up my dialogue as I went along. I'd say things like: 'Bocka racka bookum hoogoo chog.'

"Then Jungle Jim would say to another character: 'What did he say?' and I would go: 'Saga boop. Ralla goo. Pop.'"

Nye graduated to reasonably articulate roles after that stint. "I gradually began shifting into comedy parts and I guess I worked on about every major comedy show in the East," said Nye.

Created Act In Office

"Steve Allen heard about me from one of his writers, Stan Burns, who had worked with me on an ABC show, 'Talk of the Town.' Well, Steve used me on his 'Tonight' show and then when he went to Sundays, I moved with him."

Nye, married and the father of a 3-year-old boy, created Gordon Hathaway one afternoon in Allen's office when the show's staff was trying to concoct an offbeat character.

"It's a strange thing the way people react to Gordon," said Nye. "Some kids think he's a wonderful dresser and they write in asking me whether they should wear their blue jacket with their gray trousers. Some think he's an authority on entertaining and ask me if they should put rum in their punch.

"One thing about him—everybody seems to like him, even advertising men. In fact, some of t-h-e-m now greet me with — 'hi-ho, Gordorino.'"

Transporting Dry Ice Can Prove Hazardous

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Time and time again I've warned motorists of the possible dangers of carbon monoxide poisoning when driving with the windows tightly closed, especially in winter weather.

Now, it seems, a similar warning is on order for motoring in hot weather.

Some drivers apparently seek to "air-condition" their autos by using dry ice as a cooling agent. To obtain the full effect of the cooling power of the dry ice, they keep the car windows closed securely.

Now this presents a potential hazard of which the driver probably is unaware — carbon dioxide intoxication.

In a recent issue of "Missouri Medicine," Dr. A. L. Walter of Sedalia, Missouri, warns of this danger. And since I think it is of importance to all drivers who might be thinking of various ways to keep cool, I'd like to pass it on to you.

According to National Safety Council, carbon dioxide in 10 per cent concentration may produce unconsciousness. In larger quantities it may cause death by suffocation.

It's believed that many auto accidents have occured because of side effects of carbon dioxide intoxication.

Dr. Walter cites a case in which a man and his brother were overcome while driving a car with the windows closed. In the rear seat was 60 gallons of ice cream, sealed in cartons packed with 100 pounds of dry ice. The fumes were too much for the unsuspecting couple.

Of course dealers in dry ice are being alerted to this potential danger. They should caution customers against driving autos with the windows closed when transporting dry ice. However, they are generally busy persons and they might forget.

Since most of those who read this column drive cars, I'd like to carry the message right to the motorist — the one who suffers most from his or the dealer's negligence.

Mutilated Body Identified

CHICAGO (UP)—Police fingerprint experts have positively identified a mutilated body found in Lake Michigan as that of missing 15-year-old Judith Mae Andersen.

The girl, who disappeared 10 days ago, had been shot in the head and her butchered corpse stuffed into two oil drums. Her torso and legs were found in a drum floating in a Lake Michigan harbor last Thursday. Her head and arms were found floating in another oil container Saturday.

The identification, from a fingerprint taken from a religious picture in Judith Mae's home, shattered the family's hopes that the girl might still be alive.

Deputy Chief of Detectives Howard Pierson informed the girl's father, Ralph Andersen of the identification Sunday night, climaxing seven hours of painstaking research by Oscar Benke, bureau of identification technician.

Authorities continued a house-to-house search of the Andersen's middle class West Side neighborhood, concentrating on workshops, garages and filling stations where oil drums are located.

SWIM RECORD — Commander Gerald Forsberg of the British Royal Navy is shown as he started out from Dover, England, on a cross-Channel swim to Cap Gris Nez, France. Not only did the commander make the long swim, but he made a new record of 13 hours and 33 minutes, 22 minutes better than the record of America's Florence Chadwick.

"WHAT YOU SAVE MAKES A DIFFERENCE!"

She: Just what do you mean by that?
He: I mean there are better things to save than old hats.
She: Like what?
He: Money, for instance, in a Mellon Bank savings account at 2½% interest.
She: And what does that amount to for us?
He: It amounts to $615.81 at the end of two years, if I deposit twenty-five dollars each month.
She: And that adds up to lots of new hats.
He: H'mmmm.
She: Let's start now.
He: Already have. Just like lots of other people . . . but I was saving up for a fishing trip.
She: We'll discuss that later. The important thing now is to make those monthly deposits.

Worthy Matrons Hold Outing at Deep Creek

A group of women who were worthy matrons in the Order of the Eastern Star in this district, when Mrs. Albert E. Fisher of Monongahela was district deputy during the 1955-56 lodge year, continue to meet socially.

Recently they went to the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. William Bierwirth of Belle Vernon at Deep Creek for an all day outing.

The women who attended were Mrs. Fisher, Ellen Styche of Monongahela, Mrs. Harry Burger of Ellsworth, who headed the Charleroi chapter; Mrs. Clifford Weise of Donora, Mrs. James Wilson of Monessen and Mrs. William Paxton of Brownsville.

Mrs. Oliver Hormell of California was unable to attend.

The day was spent in boating and playing bridge. In the evening there was a picnic dinner served.

A steak fry will be held at the Fisher home in September, and the women will have their husbands as guests.

Mrs. Cornelius Ammon of Belle Vernon R. D. has been discharged from the Monongahela Memorial Hospital.

Skipper Sails Home

NEW YORK (UP)—Capt. Alan Villiers, skipper of the 92-foot Mayflower II on its voyage across the Atlantic, left for England Wednesday aboard the 1,020-foot Queen Mary.

Legion Card Party Delayed

Plans were announced for a card party next Thursday evening at the club room of the American Legion Home. It was planned by the Ladies Auxiliary to American Legion Post to benefit the Vernon Parent Teacher Association. The affair has been postponed and will be held on Thursday evening, Sept. 12, instead.

Meanwhile the auxiliary will continue to have the weekly card parties to raise funds for other purposes.

The ways and means committee of the Vernon PTA headed by Mrs Sellin Price and Mrs. Sadye Myers will assist the auxiliary in planning the affair.

Judy Brazack At Airline School

Judy Brazack, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brazack of 320 Broad Ave. left on Saturday morning from the Greater Pittsburgh Airport for Kansas City, Mo.

While there she will attend the National School of Aeronautics. She will be trained for airline work from four to six weeks Upon graduation she will be eligible for various airline positions.

Miss Brazack graduated with the Bellmar High School Class of 1955. She attended State Teachers College, California, for two years. She was accompanied to the airport by her parents and Tom Astle of Fayette City.

Vernon Class of 1947 in First Reunion on Saturday

The first class of Vernon High School gathered at the Park Casino on Saturday evening for their first reunion since graduation. The Vernon class of 1947 was the first class to graduate after the consolidation of the Belle Vernon and North Belle Vernon Schools.

Mrs. Mona Sichi gave the invocation before the serving of chicken, ham and steak dinners.

The head table was arranged with a centerpiece of large asters and bud vases holding red roses entwined with outdoor ivy. In observance of the tenth anniversary of their graduation the class members were presented with a ceramic vase and a red rose.

Thomas D. Ward of Belle Vernon served as master of ceremonies. The guest of honor was Harry W. Haidy of Wilmore, who was supervising principal of schools when this class was graduated. He gave a talk and recalled the school day and other memories he associated with this group Mr. and Mr. James Russell were also guests. Mrs. Russell was a faculty sponsor of the class. The other sponsor, Mrs. Hazel Hixenbaugh, was unable to be present.

After dinner various gifts were presented by Grace Martin Trembach. Anthony Basile of Carlisle and William A. Carroll of Columbus, Ohio, received the gift for traveling the longest distance to attend. Sara Greco Margie of Fairhope was the class member married the longest time, and William Carroll was the most recently married. Sally Williams Stark was the mother of the oldest child. Vera Marino Messerotes of Charleroi had the youngest child. Gerald Jackson of Fayette City was first to make his reservation for the reunion.

Mr. Hardy and Mrs. Russell were also presented with awards. Several door awards were given.

A committee was named to plan for the next reunion to be held in 1962. It includes Ed Mosier, Bill Jones, Sally Williams Stark, Mona Franks Sichi, Elizabeth Stefan Stickel and Alex Tota.

Thanks was extended to the committee in charge of arrangements for the affair. It was composed of Janet Pascoe Brandemarte, Gloria Cardinale Dzatko, Grace Martin Trembach, Vera Marino Messerotes, Genevieve Trozzo Ward, Thomas D. Ward and Joseph Vadella.

Dancing and music were enjoyed during the remainder of the evening.

Local Residents at Nicholls Reunion

A large group of Belle Vernon people attended the annual reunion of the descendents of James and Rebecca DeVore Nicholls held recently at Redd's Beach.

They were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Nicholls, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gilmour, Daniel Gilmour III, John G. Gilmour, J. C. Nicholls, Edna Nicholls, Martha Nicholls, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Maughan and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. Calvin Nicholls and three sons.

Library Receives Series of Books As Memorial Gift

Histories and biographies provid. for the reader a wide vision and perception of the past available in no other way. Through a generous memorial gift the Belle Vernon Public Library has recently acquired the Mainstream of America series, which encompasses the nation's history from the earliest days of exploration to the recent days of turmoil and achievement. Several of these merit special attention.

From Lexington to Liberty by Bruce Lancaster tells the story of the American Revolution that sparkles with new and often surprising facts.

This Hallowed Ground is written by America's foremost Civil War historian, Bruce Catton, who dramatizes and interprets the entire civil war from a northern viewpoint.

Men to Match My Mountains by Irving Stone is the story of the man, who accepts the challenge of the west and in so doing built a new empire.

The Age of the Moguls by Stewart Holbrook provides fascinating reading for men in business or industry. It is a study of the days when fortunes were built by Vanderbilt, Ford, Schwab, Carnegie, Morgan and others.

The books listed comprise in part a memorial gift to the library by Dr. and Mrs. Alexander M. Hofstetter in memory of Mrs. Reginald Hancok.

Tom Johnston has returned to his home in Belle Vernon after spending a few days in Comerville.

Surprise Shower Held Here for Valley Girl

Mrs. William Horrell Jr. of Belle Vernon entertained recently at a surprise miscellaneous shower honoring Mrs. George J. Jonas of East Monongahela. Before her marriage she was Marjorie Rue.

Games were played and winning prizes were Mrs. Leo Kramer of Monongahela, Mrs. James Horrell of Belle Vernon, Mrs. Alexander Rue and Mary Jonas of Monongahela.

Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Horrell, Rita Ririe of Donora, Betty Meyer of Bentleyville and Regina Jonas of Monongahela. They served the luncheon using a color scheme of pink and white in the appointments. The same colors were also used throughout the home for decorations.

The honored guest opened her many gifts seated under shower streamers falling from white wedding bells.

There were 35 guests attending from Uniontown, Muse, Donora, Belle Vernon, Bentleyville and Monongahela.

Jimmie Heide of Henry St. and Tom Natali of Monongahela have returned home after vacationing at Conneaut Lake.
